Bob R.

I was diagnosed with Breast Cancer in August 1996. As I once said, “Breast Cancer wasn’t on my list of things to worry about.” I underwent a mastectomy and then several months of chemotherapy.

Although Breast Cancer in men is more rare (less than 1% of cases), it’s essentially the same disease as in women.

Currently, I serve as the Executive Director of the Cancer Resource Center of the Finger Lakes.
